Nixon admits hiding evidence

Nixon limited FBI probe of Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Don't go any further into this case, period!" That was President Nixon's indirect order to the FBI after he learned federal agents were on the verge of discovering what he already had been told: The Watergate break-in six days earlier had been committed by the President's men.

Tape transcripts made public on Monday also show Nixon was told his campaign director, John N. Mitchell, apparently knew about the intelligence gathering scheme in advance and pressured subordinates "to get more information."

Nixon repeatedly had denied knowledge of any high-level involvement in Watergate or any participation in a cover-up of the scandal.

The 46 pages of newly released transcript include portions of three meetings between Nixon and presidential Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman on June 23, 1972 — six days after the break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate Office Building.

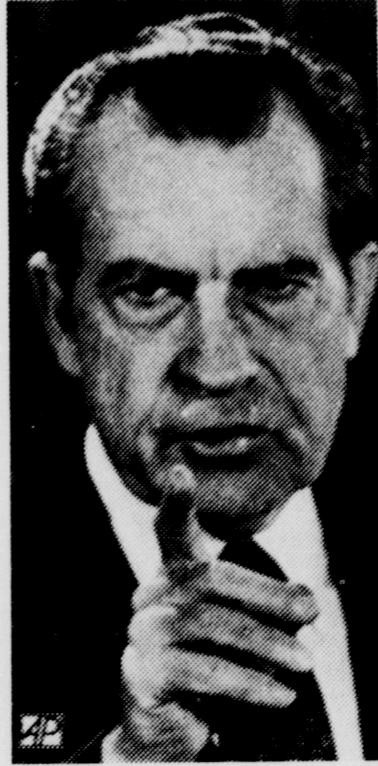

At the outset of a wide-ranging political strategy discussion regarding the ongoing presidential campaign, Haldeman told the President:

"Now, on the investigation, you know the Democratic break-in thing, we're back in the problem area because the FBI is not under control, because (acting FBI Director L. Patrick) Gray doesn't exactly know how to control it, and they have — their investigation is now leading into some productive areas — because they've been able to trace the money — not through the money itself — but through the bank sources — the banker.

"And, and it goes in some directions we don't want it to go."

Haldeman said Mitchell had come up with a recommendation, analyzed and agreed to by White House counsel John W. Dean III, "that the only way to solve this, and we're set up beautifully to do it ... is for us to have (Deputy CIA Director Vernon A.) Walters call Pat Gray and just say, 'Stay the hell out of (Please turn to page 2)

PRESIDENT NIXON

Damaging tapes released

WASHINGTON (AP) — Facing a new firestorm in Congress, President Nixon summoned his Cabinet for an urgent session today following his admission he tried two years ago to thwart a crucial phase of the FBI's Watergate investigation.

A White House spokesman, in announcing the late morning session, said "all items" would be discussed. This presumably would include growing demands that Nixon resign from the nation's highest office.

Coupled with his admission that he withheld information from Congress, the public and his own lawyer, Nixon's disclosure Monday about his role in trying to sidetrack the FBI probe dealt a devastating blow to his already dimmed hopes of avoiding impeachment.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford canceled a scheduled speech to an agricultural group so he could attend the White House meeting. Some of Nixon's staunchest defenders in Congress called for his resignation or impeachment. Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he was suspending his public defense of Nixon. Fresh rumors of an imminent presidential resignation swept a capital already awash in such unconfirmed reports, but aides said Nixon planned "to fight on."

A tidal wave of reaction followed Nixon's release on Monday of a statement and new tape transcripts disclosing that:

—Gave orders within a week after the Watergate break-in that the Central Intelligence Agency be used to blunt an FBI investigation that threatened to expose the fact his campaign aides channeled money to the burglars.

—Was told six days after the break-in that his campaign director and former attorney general, John N. Mitchell, may have had some prior knowledge of the wiretapping plans.

—Withheld evidence from his closest advisers and lawyers as well as the House Judiciary Committee, and made erroneous statements to the American public.

"This was a serious act of omission for which I take full responsibility and which I deeply regret," Nixon said in the written statement.

Acknowledging that his impeachment by the House is "virtually a foregone conclusion," Nixon said he would give the Senate for a trial the transcripts of 64 White House tape recordings he is turning over to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica under a Supreme Court order.

The harsh reaction of even some of his closest allies eclipsed the furor that followed his firing last October of special prosecutor Archibald Cox — an incident that triggered what aides later called a firestorm of protest.

But his promise to yield more tapes did little to soften the harsh reaction of (Please turn to page 2)

GOP members change minds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., who vociferously defended President Nixon during the House Judiciary Committee inquiry, said today he has called on Nixon to resign and that he will vote for impeachment if the President does not do so.

Among the 10 Republican members of the committee who had opposed all proposed articles of impeachment, Sandman was the fifth to change his mind because of Nixon's disclosure that he withheld evidence from the committee.

Four others said they were reassessing their position and the 10th could not be reached for comment.

One of those reassessing his position, Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Ohio, said in an interview this morning: "I've always felt that in order to impeach a president you had to have direct evidence and here the President was furnishing the direct evidence himself."

Latta, asked if his vote had switched, said: "Well, we haven't cast that vote, but certainly you can't defend that one particular charge...."

Latta appeared on the CBS Morning News.

Sandman told a news conference that the transcript of a June 23, 1972 conversation released by Nixon Monday "is the type of hard proof I believe is necessary. I can see no escape from this information."

Sandman said there is no question in his mind but that the transcript establishes an impeachable offense under the first article of impeachment voted by the committee — the one charging obstruction of justice in the cover-up of the Watergate break-in.

Asked whether he thinks the Senate would convict Nixon if the House votes impeachment, Sandman replied, "I can't see how they could do otherwise."

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., who carried the main burden of Nixon's defense in the Judiciary Committee, said Monday: "After considerable reflection, I have reached the painful conclusion that the President of the United States should resign." Wiggins added that he would vote for impeachment if Nixon remained in office.

Also changing their minds Monday on impeachment were Republican Judiciary Committee members David W. Dennis of Indiana, Wiley Wayne of Iowa and Joseph J. Maraziti of New Jersey.

Those on the committee reassessing their positions, in addition to Latta, were Carlos J. Moorhead of California, Henry P. Smith III of New York and the committee's ranking Republican, Edward Hutchinson of Michigan.

Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss., could not be reached for comment.

Meanwhile, committee members who voted for impeachment said Nixon's action confirms their view. One of them, Rep. M. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., said Nixon's statement "makes me a little more comfortable with my vote."

Elsewhere in Congress, many members said the President's statement increased the odds for Nixon's impeachment and removal from office.

Jeff girl critical after auto accident

A young Jeffersonville woman is listed in critical condition at Fayette Memorial Hospital, following a severe car accident at 12:17 a.m. Tuesday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported a car driven by Cora Lynn Bryan, 17, of Jeffersonville, failed to negotiate a left curve on U.S. 62, four-tenths of a mile south of Snowhill Road, and skidded 140 feet off the roadside, struck a culvert, spun sideways, knocked down a corner fence post, brace and gate, continued through two rods of fence and slid 40 feet into a soybean field owned by Clifford Daugherty, U.S. 62-SW.

Ms. Bryan was taken to the hospital by Kirkpatrick ambulance service, where she was admitted for a fractured pelvis, a ruptured spleen and bladder, multiple lacerations, according to hospital officials.

Deputies said she was thrown from the auto before it came to a complete stop.

Fayette County Sheriff's Deputies also reported an accident at 9:30 p.m. Monday, involving cars driven by Jay E. Mossbarger, 17, Bloomington, and Barbara J. Bitler, 35, Middleburg Heights.

The Bitler auto which was pulling a camper trailer, was attempting to make a left turn off CCC Highway-E into Lees Motel, four-tenths of a mile north of the Washington-Waterloo Road intersection, when the car driven by Mossbarger collided with the trailer, according to sheriff's deputies.

Moderate damage was incurred by the Mossbarger auto and slight damage was incurred by the Bitler trailer. There were no injuries.

The Washington C.H. Police Department investigated two traffic mishaps Monday and cited an area

Marshall was charged with failure to yield right of way.

A minor accident involving a car driven by Elizabeth Groves, 25, of 328 E. Market St., and a truck driven by James C. Wright, 49, of 505 N. North St., occurred in the Hidy Foods parking lot, Columbus Avenue, at 5:03 p.m. Monday, police reported.

Both vehicles had been backing up from parking spaces when they collided.

Resignation rumors sweep Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a few hours Monday, the capital was swamped with rumors that President Nixon would resign. That announcement didn't materialize.

There has been speculation about a possible presidential resignation for more than a year, since the Watergate scandal chased some of Nixon's closest

R-H reporter before bench Friday

ED SUMMERS

A hearing will be held Friday afternoon in Fayette County Common Pleas Court for a Record-Herald newspaperman charged with contempt of court as a result of his news coverage of a criminal trial here June 25.

Ed Summers, 24, a reporter-photographer for the Record-Herald, is accused of violating "an express command" of the presiding judge by identifying a missing material witness who was charged with contempt of court and named in a bench warrant.

THE HEARING on the contempt of court charge will be held at 1 p.m. Friday. The contempt charge is to be heard by Judge J. Donald Ratcliff, of Ross County Common Pleas Court, who was assigned to the case. The contempt order was filed in the Fayette County clerk of courts office here July 16.

The citation alleges Summers, who was covering the case for the Record-Herald, violated an order of Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman during the trial of Jay D. Gordon, 21, Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, who was charged with kidnapping and extortion.

The news story filed by Summers stated Judge Coffman had charged Jack L. Gordon, 20, younger brother of the defendant, with contempt of court and ordered a bench warrant for his arrest. The story stated the younger Gordon had been granted immunity from prosecution to testify against his older brother.

Kenneth Haley, 22, of 1135 E. Paint St., is also charged with kidnapping and extortion in the same case, but has not gone to trial.

A mistrial was declared in Jay Gordon's trial the following day after it was determined the jurors had been exposed to trial coverage published in the June 25 edition of the Record-Herald.

Eleven of the 12 jurors signed a letter, reprinted in the Record-Herald July 7, saying they had read the newspaper's account of the proceedings, but added that the judge had not admonished them to do so.

When the material witness failed to appear, Judge Coffman excused the jurors temporarily until the witness could be located. The judge contended that as a result of the Record-Herald's publishing the name of the material witness, she said she had no alternative but to grant a mistrial to the defendant in the case.

Judge Coffman stated in the affidavit for contempt that Summers' action "was calculated to and did impede the administration of justice."

Summers, who is transferring this fall from Morehead State (Ky.) University to Ohio State University, Columbus, where he will be a junior majoring in medical technology, said when Judge Coffman spotted him in the rear of the courtroom on the second day of the kidnap trial she requested that he not print the younger Gordon's name.

The reporter-photographer, who worked for the Record-Herald for three years before resuming his college studies on a full-time basis, faces a maximum penalty of 10 days in jail and/or a (Please turn to page 2)

Glenn pushes impeachment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John Glenn, a Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, called for the continuation of the impeachment process against President Nixon in a statement released today.

Glenn discouraged resignation by the President as being "harmful to the long term best interests of this country."

"The wheels of justice are now in motion. It is highly important now to bring out every single factor (of the coverup) to prevent this from ever happening again," Glenn said.

Ford to suspend defense of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he is suspending his public defense of President Nixon against impeachment in light of Nixon's statement that new evidence "may be damaging."

Ford said Monday he had not seen the new evidence and would stand on his views that the President is innocent of any impeachable offense "until I have reason to change them."

"I have come to the conclusion that the public interest is no longer served by repetition of my previously expressed belief," Ford declared in a prepared statement.

He said "the whole truth should be the objective of the (impeachment) trial before the Senate."

The vice president issued the statement two hours after President Nixon released transcripts showing he authorized six days after the Watergate break-in, an effort to keep the FBI from investigating evidence that Nixon re-election money was involved.

Ford said that since Nixon says the evidence may be damaging he, Ford, will make no further public statements on impeachment "until the facts are more fully available."

Ford also said that as the man who would succeed Nixon if the President were impeached and removed from office he properly has no constitutional role in the Senate impeachment debate and so should not daily involve himself in it.

As the first vice president in his position — Andrew Johnson had no vice president, Ford said, "there are no precedents to guide me except my own common sense and my conscience."

"Both tell me to let my widely known

Greenfield audit turns up several irregularities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor today reported 13 findings for recovery totaling $3,962.85 in an audit of the City of Greenfield in Highland County.

The state examiner also required a transfer of $956 from the city's state highway improvement fund to its street construction, maintenance and repair fund because of a bookkeeping error.

A $1,690 finding was returned against former Mayor Roland T. Craig for failing to account for the sum, the auditor's office said.

The remainder of the findings, totaling $2,272.75, represented unauthorized hospital fund expenditures, according to the auditor's office.

Three killed in L.A. blast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bomb exploded in a bank of lockers at the passenger terminal of the Los Angeles International Airport today, killing three persons and critically injuring five others, authorities said.

The bomb blast ripped through an area 75 to 100 feet wide, a fire department spokesman said.

One of the dead was tentatively identified as a skycap, said a spokesman for the county coroner's office and the Federal Aviation Administration.

The explosion was located between the ticket counters of the Pan American World Airways and Korean Air Lines.

$500 fine if the contempt charge stands.

Besides citing Summers with contempt of court, Judge Coffman issued a gag order July 10 on all Fayette County law enforcement officers. She contends she does not want cases tried in newspapers before she or a jury has a chance to hear them.

The gag order forbids law enforcement officers "to take part in interviews for publicity relating to any matter which might ultimately reach the Common Pleas Court."

In another related development, the judge also sent out letters to the county's 15 attorneys reminding them of what they are allowed to release to the news media under their standards of professional ethics.

MEANWHILE, Jay Gordon has been sentenced to a term of one to 10 years in the Mansfield Reformatory.

The case was heard Monday by Judge Darrell Hottle in Highland County Common Pleas Court, Hillsboro, after Judge Coffman granted defense attorney John C. Bryan's request for a change of venue following the mistrial here.

Judge Hottle accepted a negotiated plea bargain and Gordon entered a guilty plea to a charge of extortion. Fayette County prosecuting attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann requested dismissal of the kidnapping charge against Gordon.

Gordon, his younger brother, and Haley were arrested by Washington C.H. police officers Feb. 20 for allegedly kidnapping John A. Whiteside, 20, Snowhill Road, in the Armco Steel Corp. plant parking lot here and reportedly threatening him in order to extort something of value.

views on the impeachment issue stand until I have reason to change them and to refuse further comment at this time," he said.

Security to be tight for debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House end of the Capitol building will be a tightly guarded fortress during the impeachment debate, closed to all not on business because of threats of violence.

House leaders and officials are developing plans that would bar tourists and the general public from the House side.

Members, employes, newsmen and others with a need to enter the building would be subject to rigid security screening. This would include, in most cases, new credentials, searches of all packages, briefcases and equipment, and airport-type electronic metal detectors at all points of entry and access corridors on every floor.

The Senate portion of the building would continue to be open, but security measures would shift there if a trial results from the House action.

Security planning was spurred by what officials described as an alarming outpouring of letters, telephone calls and messages conveying threats against Congress in general and some individual members, especially since the beginning of broadcast proceedings of the Judiciary Committee.

Such threats already have resulted in searches of several areas of the Capitol complex.

Protective measures would be redoubled in the immediate vicinity of the House chamber, which includes the media and public galleries overlooking the chamber and the adjacent work areas for press, radio, television and periodical correspondents.

Majority Whip John J. McFall, D-Calif., chairman of a special bipartisan committee working with policy, intelligence and security agencies, said the plans are nearing completion. They would go into effect a few days before the scheduled Aug. 19 start of the debate. It is expected to continue through Aug. 29.

Nixon's top aide advised the plan would work because it wasn't unusual for the spy agency to "put the hold on" FBI investigations that threatened to expose covert CIA operations and "the FBI agents who are working the case ... feel that's what it is."

Under questioning from Nixon, Haldeman said the money used for the break-in was "directly traceable" from Nixon campaign contributors through campaign finance chief Maurice H. Stans and his Finance Committee to Re-elect the President.

Nixon suggested the contributors could tell the agents a false story about the money, but Haldeman cautioned, "Then we're relying on more and more people all the time. That's the problem, and they'll stop if we could take this other route."

"All right," the President said.

Haldeman: "And you seem to think the thing to do is to get them to stop?"

Nixon: "Right. Fine."

They discussed how to get CIA Director Richard Helms to go along with the plan, and Nixon suggested, "We protected Helms from one hell of a lot of things."

He added that exposing E. Howard Hunt Jr., a retired clandestine officer of the CIA, as a Watergate conspirator would uncover "a lot of hankypanky that we have nothing to do with ourselves."

Nixon apparently was referring to Hunt's role in the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba and perhaps other, still-classified exploits of the romantically inclined American spy.

"Well, what the hell, did Mitchell know about this (break-in conspiracy)?" Nixon said.

Haldeman: "I think so. I don't think he knew the details, but I think he knew."

Nixon: "He didn't know how it was going to be handled though — with (campaign contributor Kenneth) Dahlberg and the Texans and so forth? Well, who was the asshole that did? Is it (G. Gordon) Liddy? Is that the fellow? He must be a little nut!"

Haldeman: "He is."

Nixon: "I mean he just isn't well screwed on is he? Is that the problem?"

Haldeman: "No, but he was under pressure, apparently to get more information, and as he got more pressure, he pushed the people harder to move harder —"

Nixon: "Pressure from Mitchell?"

Haldeman: "Apparently."

Nixon: "Oh, Mitchell, Mitchell was at the point unintelligible."

Haldeman: "Yeah."

Nixon: "All right, fine. I understand it all. We won't second-guess Mitchell and the rest. Thank God it wasn't (special presidential counsel Charles W.) Colson."

The President then ordered Haldeman to call in Helms and Walters of the CIA and "play it tough. That's the way they play it, and that's the way we are going to play it."

Later in the conversation, when telling Haldeman what to tell the CIA officials, Nixon advised, "Don't lie to them to the extent to say there is no involvement, but just say this is a comedy of errors, without getting into it. The President believes that it is going to open the whole Bay of Pigs thing up again."

A high pressure system over the Ohio area is expected to continue to affect the state's weather through Wednesday, with sunny skies forecast, and clear night skies.

High temperatures today will be in the mid 70s close to Lake Erie and in the low 80s inland. Lows tonight will be in the 50s and low 60s and highs on Wednesday in the low to mid 80s.

It continued cool over Ohio Monday with high temperatures nearly all in the 70s. Toledo had 80, however, and the coolest spot was Youngstown with 70. Early Tuesday temperatures were in the upper 40s and 50s. The low of 50 at Cleveland equaled the record low for the date set in 1942.

Partly cloudy Thursday and a chance of showers Friday and Saturday. Highs in the 80s. Lows in the 60s.

Scrap bombs, warns mayor of Hiroshima

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — The mayor of Hiroshima, the Japanese city whose name became a synonym for nuclear devastation 29 years ago, demanded today that the world scrap its nuclear arsenals and free mankind of "the awesome threat of suicidal ruin."

Mayor Setsuo Yamada called on the nuclear powers by name, listing India along with the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, China and France.

Yamada also demanded that Japan sign the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which binds nations without nuclear weapons not to develop them. India, which set off a nuclear device in May, is not a signatory.

The mayor spoke at ceremonies in memory of the approximately 85,000 victims of the world's first atomic attack, in the waning days of World War II.

The toll of the attack has continued to mount in the three decades since. The Atomic Bomb Hospital in Hiroshima reported that another 36 bomb victims died last year after long treatment.

At today's ceremonies, 1,632 names were added to the list of persons whose deaths have been traced directly to the blast or to subsequent radiation poisoning.

Nixon admits

some of his closest allies.

Visibly shaken and fighting to keep his composure, Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., the silver-haired lawyer who carried the burden of Nixon's defense in the Judiciary Committee, told newsmen:

"After considerable reflection, I have reached the painful conclusion that the President of the United States should resign."

Wiggins said he would vote for impeachment if Nixon didn't quit. Three of his GOP colleagues on the committee also abandoned their support of the President. Five others said they were reassessing their positions.

Other leading Republicans joined in the chorus of resignation or impeachment demands.

"This is the end," said Rep. Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis.

"He's gone," said Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, R-Va.

Some Southern Democrats who had been solidly in Nixon's anti-impeachment camp were wavering toward undecided. But one, Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., said he still backed the President because "to err is human, to forgive divine."

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill of Massachusetts said, "A tidal wave is about to strike the House as far as impeachment goes.... You wonder if he'll have a handful to support him."

But Nixon said in his two-page statement that "I am firmly convinced that the record, in its entirety, does not justify the extreme step of impeachment and removal of a President."

Aides said the President and his closest advisers discussed his possible resignation during a Camp David conference Sunday.

But they said that Nixon rejected the option and decided instead to follow "the constitutional process" because he didn't want to set "a precedent ... of a President allowing himself to be driven from office."

The debate was certain to be spurred, however, by the revelations in the three partial transcripts released by the White House an hour after the Nixon statement.

All three conversations were between Nixon and H. R. Haldeman, then his White House chief of staff, June 23, 1972, six days after the Republican operatives were arrested inside Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate complex.

The 46 pages of transcripts disclose Nixon's approval of a plan to cut off the FBI's probe, which was then threatening to expose involvement of his top campaign officials.

Haldeman said Mitchell, then campaign director, had recommended "that the only way to solve this, and we're set up beautifully to do it ... is for us to have (Deputy CIA director Vernon A.) Walters call (acting FBI Director) Pat Gray and just say, 'Stay the hell out of this ...'"

Stock rally greets Nixon disclosures

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market raced ahead early today, then paused for breath while awaiting the outcome of a meeting of President Nixon and his Cabinet.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 16.51 at 776.91, and gainers maintained a 9-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers traced the early surge of buying to hopes for early resolution of the impeachment question following President Nixon's disclosure Monday that he ordered a halt to a key part of the FBI's investigation into the Watergate burglary.

Brokers said profit-taking set in after the Dow surged more than 25 points in the first half hour.

Detroit Edison was the most active NYSE issue, up 1 1/2 at 10 1/2. A 100,000-share block traded at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.19 at 78.13.

Analysts said the key issue regarding impeachment from many investors' point of view was how quickly the question of President Nixon's future in office could be settled.

The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks showed a .90 gain at 42.43.

Syntex was the Amex volume leader, up 1 1/2 at 39 1/2.

Resignation

Warren told newsmen there would be an announcement after 3:30.

The time is important. The New York Stock exchange closes at 3:30 p.m. each trading day, and important government announcements that might affect stock prices are routinely held up until after that time. For weeks, economic analysts have predicted that stock prices would soar if a new President took office.

Warren insisted that the announcement would not be a resignation. Nevertheless, the Dow Jones industrial average jumped up 13 points during the afternoon, before settling to a close with an increase of almost 8 points.

Walking state treasurer candidate arrives here

Richard H. Harris, Republican candidate for state treasurer, who is walking the 1,000-mile circumference of Ohio in a unique grassroots campaign, arrived in Washington C.H. early Tuesday.

"The first 350 miles of my 1,000-mile campaign walk around this state has shown me that the people of Ohio care how their tax dollars are managed," Harris said.

"This kind of grassroots campaigning is sorely needed in Ohio. The people deserve to be listened to, and I'm going to do it," Harris exclaimed.

Averaging 130 steps per minute (four miles per hour), 10 miles per day, the 42-year-old Harris began his walk in Toledo on June 15. He plans to circle the state, finishing in Toledo by Oct. 1

SINCE THE long trek began almost two months ago, the state treasurer candidate has lost 25 pounds, dropping from 230 pounds to 205 pounds.

Harris recently exposed a foul-up in the state treasurer's office by revealing that the incumbent treasurer allowed an excess of $7 million to lay in mailbags on the floor of the office for more than two months. Interest lost to the state amounted to nearly $100,000, he said.

"Eleven years of administrative experience in state government makes it clear to me that this kind of administrative incompetency should not and does not have to exist," Harris declared.

"I am offering my candidacy to the people of Ohio as a viable alternative to administrative incompetency and frivolous waste of the taxpayers' money demonstrated by the present treasurer's administration," he said. "I am a highly-qualified administrator and am confident that I can greatly improve the operations of the treasurer's office."

A resident of Wauseon, Harris was unopposed in the May primary and is making his first attempt at public office.

He worked his way up from an entry level investigator for the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation in 1962 to coordinator of the bureau's 16 Ohio districts in 1971. His office administered $45 million in benefits.

He is married, the father of four children, and attended Bowling Green State University and Defiance College.

Also discussed was repair and remodeling of the own hall. It was decided to get an estimate of the repair costs before any decision was made.

Profitless deal claimed in Malabar expansion sale

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board was told Monday by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources that an employee who sold it land would not make a profit off the transaction.

David DeVries, a deputy to the director, told the board the fact it wasn't informed earlier this month that the person it was buying the land from was a state employee was his mistake.

"It was an omission on my part," DeVries said of the transaction where the board released $27,678 to the department to buy two-thirds of an acre of land in Richland County from Carroll Mercury Sales Inc.

The land was to be used for expansion of Malabar Farm, home of the late author Louis Bromfield, which the state now operates as a tourist attraction.

Carroll Mercury Sales of Mount Vernon, DeVries confirmed, is primarily owned by Carroll J. "Bill" Solomon, curator of the farm and a Department of Natural Resources employee.

Solomon paid $22,500 for the portion of the corner lot but had some closing expenses in the transaction. He also rented it for eight months at $1,000.

Resources Director William Nye said Solomon did the state a favor, buying the property when the department budget would allow it a year ago and holding it for the state.

The rental money, he said, will be deducted from the purchase price. DeVries promised a complete breakdown of the transaction for the legislators on the control board.

"It's a matter of my omission," he told the board. "He will not be paid more than his actual costs." He said the deal had not been finalized but that Solomon has an option.

Nationwide earnings show large gains

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Nationwide Corp. reported a $905,000 increase in net income for the first half of this year compared to a similar period in 1973.

Panel recommends lake shore zoning

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Lakes Superior, Erie and Ontario can be regulated beneficially as a group, but the best step toward reducing property damage by lake waters would be better zoning, a U.S.-Canadian panel says.

The International Joint Commission on the Great Lakes says it will announce specific dates next month for a series of public hearings in late October through November. The hearings on lake water control proposals are to be in Cleveland, Duluth, Milwaukee, Muskegon, Detroit and Rochester in the United States and in Montreal and at Ontario's Thunder Bay, Owen Sound, Sault Ste. Marie, and Hamilton in Canada.

In a report described as designed to help laymen understand the complex Great Lakes problem, the commission says the lakes' natural balance is delicate. "To disturb it is to affect lakeshore properties, water supply intakes, navigation, power production and the environment," the report adds.

The commission says only a pair of plans offer some benefit at reasonable cost. These envision regulation of Lakes Superior and Ontario together or regulation of Lakes Superior, Erie and Ontario as a group.

The United States would derive two to four times greater benefit from them than would Canada, the commission adds.

The report cites overall findings that:

—"To the extent that the lakes already possess a high degree of natural regulation and are artificially regulated by means of the works at the outlets of Lake Superior and Lake Ontario, only small improvements are practicable without costly regulatory works and remedial measures.

—"The most promising measures for minimizing future damages to shore property interests are strict land use zoning and structural setback requirements."

—"Regulation of Lakes Michigan-Huron by construction of control works and dredging of channels at their outlet, combined with the regulation of Lakes Superior and Ontario, would not provide benefits commensurate with costs."

—"Regulation of all five lakes, employing existing control works for Lakes Superior and Ontario and newly constructed works for Lakes Michigan-Huron and Lake Erie, would not provide benefits commensurate with costs." One of the plans the commission found potentially beneficial envisions permanently lowering the mean level of Lake Erie by enlarging the channel of the upper Niagara River. It also would make "slight modification to the St. Marys control works," the commission says.

Family privacy strengthened

Congress deserves praise for its action assuring parents the right to view their children's school records and challenge them on grounds of accuracy or appropriateness, and safeguarding such data against unwarranted disclosure. There has long been need for this protection incorporated in the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974.

The impetus for this legislation was provided by growing hostility to detailed personal questionnaires pupils are required to answer as part of certain federally sponsored teaching programs. Even had such questionnaires getting into children's home life and racial and sexual attitudes not been advanced, however, there would have been reason for this section of the omnibus education bill.

Schools vary, of course, but it is not uncommon to find questionable material in a pupil's cumulative record folder. Nor is such material always kept inviolate except for carefully defined legitimate uses, as it ought to be. These observations apply also to institutions of higher education, which properly come under the new law. That law should have a healthy inhibiting effect on school administrators and educational program designers inclined to pay too little attention to families' rights of privacy.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

The boy from Floresville

WASHINGTON — Big John Connally indicted for obstruction of justice, illegal payoffs and perjury says he is convinced he will prove his innocence when his case comes to trial. The puzzle is that a man of Connally's wealth should have been dithering around, as the indictment charges, with $10,000 in a milk fund payoff.

Connally is a prize example of the poor-boy-to-millionaire syndrome that flourishes in the most exotic form in Texas. His father was the second butcher in the butcher shop in Floresville, his birthplace.

THAT SYNDROME in even more luxurious form was evident in the career of Lyndon Johnson. As his friend and political mentor, Johnson brought Connally to Washington to be his assistant in 1937 when the late President was a young congressman.

The young aide who was to hold a succession of high offices, including three terms as governor of Texas, got his schooling from a tough master who knew every angle of the politics of influence and pull.

Now and then during the House Judiciary Committee's debate on the articles of impeachment potshots were taken at Johnson. Didn't he deserve impeachment as much as President Nixon? Why wasn't his presidency investigated?

This has been part of a half-submerged Republican defense line: You Democrats in the majority are out to impeach a Republican President when you know the same kind of thing has gone on in Democratic administrations.

This fosters the corrosive cynicism that all politicians are corrupt and it happens that some get caught and others don't.

In the poor boy-to-millionaire sweepstakes, Lyndon Johnson was no slouch. He was on a public payroll all his life until he left the presidency. While in the five years in the White House, his salary was $200,000 annually with an additional $50,000. Both amounts were taxable.

Yet after his death in 1973, his estate was estimated at $35 to $40 million. This included the several millions he had previously given to his two daughters Lynda Bird Robb and Luci Nugent.

The bulk of the estate was invaluable television and radio properties and in large landholdings, some of which had been disposed of shortly before his death. One television property had been sold not long before for $9 million.

To this reporter's knowledge only one newspaper, the Wall Street Journal, did an in-depth investigation of how the President and Mrs. Johnson acquired the TV stations.

Influence and pressure marked the trail that made it impossible for "outsiders" to compete in the Johnson domain in Texas. I was at the ranch as the Journal articles appeared and the President vented his wrath in typical Johnsonian fashion.

Power and money were the two poles of attraction for Connally and his mentor. Power meant money. It was as simple as that since, as has so often been demonstrated, wealth does not necessarily mean political power.

SNIFFING the political winds Connally decided to back Nixon. Connally got his reward when Nixon named him secretary of the treasury. With the Republicans riding high, this set in motion the boom for Connally as the party's nominee in 1976.

Secretary Connally presided over the meeting of the finance ministers of the Group of Ten that reached an agreement on the realignment of exchange rates. The President called it "the most significant monetary agreement in the history of the world," the most significant event in world financial history. The agreement lasted hardly more than a year.

Yet the President was enamored of the big, tough-talking Texan who, in 1972, headed Democrats for Nixon. He had all the bold assurance that Nixon, so insecure in his background, lacked.

What has been forgotten is that the President after Spiro Agnew's downfall first offered the vice presidency to Connally who declined because he felt that democrats in Congress could block his confirmation. Even if he got through, it would be after a bruising fight that would seriously impair his chances for the presidential nomination.

Now this all goes glimmering for the boy from Floresville who moved into the bracket of private planes and $400 suits. It is one more trial in the long tragic procession haunting this grisly year of our disillusion.

No progress in Lordstown strike talks

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—No progress was reported following another eight hours of negotiations Monday in an attempt to end a strike at General Motors Corp.'s Lordstown complex.

The talks were to be resumed at 9 a.m. today.

Marlin Ford, president of the striking United Auto Workers Local 1112, said before the talks started Monday that he was not optimistic about an early settlement because of a deadlock in the negotiations. He said no progress in breaking the deadlock was made during the day.

A GM spokesman said the talks were stalled over contract language and that the remaining grievances could be settled quickly.

Local 1112 struck the GM Assembly Division July 12, halting the production of Chevrolet Vegas and van trucks. It represents 7,800 workers employed on the assembly lines and has been without a local contract since last September.

Goldberg asks Nixon to resign

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Urging President Nixon to "consider his patriotic duty," former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg called for the President's resignation Monday night because "we are a country without leadership."

Goldberg, onetime U.N. ambassador and secretary of labor, said "character is what we need most now."

Highway herbicide is under attack

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Despite some scattered criticism, the Ohio Division of Highways continues to control weeds by the use of a herbicide known as 2-4-D.

State Rep. George Mastics, R-3 Fairview Park, has asked state Transportation Director J. Phillip Richey to discontinue the practice. He said some experts believe 2-4-D can cause birth defects in humans.

"It's a safe herbicide," said Carson Barklow, assistant deputy director for operations and maintenance.

Barklow is directly responsible for spraying operations.

The herbicide is the same ingredient used to kill broad leaf plants in weed-and-feed type fertilizers used by home owners on their lawns, Barklow said.

"It's widely used on golf courses," Barklow said. "It's the type farmers use to keep weeds out of their corn."

Spraying usually is done in the spring, but sometimes in the fall along state highways.

"If we couldn't use 2-4-D we would have to use mowers and men with scythes," said Barklow. "That would be expensive."

"This herbicide has been approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency," said Barklow.

Licensed specialists apply it.

Barklow said herbicides had been used by the highway division since the 1950's. The use of 2-4-D, he said, was discontinued briefly in 1970 after former Gov. James A. Rhodes received some complaints.

"But, a couple of people that were here then tell me they resumed using it after about two months," Barklow said.

Mastics sent his letter to Richey asking the herbicide be discontinued in June, after Dr. Samuel Epstein of Case Western Reserve University said it could cause birth defects.

Epstein said the chemical used on a farm could build up in grains and be consumed by humans in meat, crops and milk.

"Widespread use of these dangerous sprays on highway roadsides is a reckless maneuver that should be stopped immediately," said Mastics. "Our unborn children's welfare comes first."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She should just say: "NO!"

DEAR ABBY: I've been struggling with this problem for a year and can't seem to come up with a solution.

I am 27, reasonably attractive and divorced. When a girl is 21 and not yet married, she can say no to a fellow and use the excuse that she is saving herself for marriage. But when she's 27 and divorced, what can she say that will be acceptable?

If I say, "I don't believe in sex outside marriage," it sounds like I'm trying to rope myself another husband, which is not necessarily true.

How can I get around this? What I need is some clever saying that will get me off the hook without making me sound like a goody-goody.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: What makes you think you have to either deliver, or come up with an excuse? Surely you have something other than sex to offer a man. Just say: "No," and don't feel that you have to justify it.

DEAR ABBY: The days when girls went to college to catch a husband are a thing of the past. If girls don't get an education so they can support themselves they will end up on welfare.

The no-fault divorces are telling the story loud and clear. Women are not going to be able to hook a man and live off him for the rest of their lives.

A relative of mine is now looking for work at the age of 67. For 15 years her ex-husband sent her $800 a month, and she spent every dime of it. Last month she was told there will be no more checks and now she is half out of her mind. She's never done any kind of work in her life. She's hopelessly helpless.

She wants to come live with me. I told her no. At age 45, I went back to school for two years to prepare myself for the job I have now. I like being independent, and I don't want to give up my privacy, which is what I would have to do if I let her come live with me. Do you blame me?

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I'd have to know more about the relationship between you and this relative. If she is someone who looked after you when you were helpless, it would make a difference.

DEAR ABBY: The girl I'm dating has been invited to her cousin's wedding. She received a formal invitation, and enclosed was a note which read: "I am sorry but I must ask you please not to bring a guest as it will be too much. Thank you," and it was signed by the bride's mother.

My question: Isn't it customary for a girl who is dating someone special to be allowed to bring him? I had quite a long discussion with my girl friend. I told her that under the circumstances I didn't think she should attend the wedding either as I do not approve of her going without me as her escort.

I would like your opinion

OBJECT

DEAR OBJECT: Objection overruled! You aren't officially engaged to her and should not expect to be included. You appear to be unduly possessive of a girl you are only "dating". And you are out of order to insist that she not attend her cousin's wedding because you were not made welcome. Case dismissed.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M AND K: When an argument develops into a physical fight, the one who lands the first blow has lost the argument.

Great Lakes shipping discussed in Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Some 1,200 members of the Maritime Engineers Beneficial Association-Associated Maritime Officers are voting on a new working agreement reached in negotiations with major steel companies operating Great Lakes bulk carriers. A union spokesman said Monday the agreement had been reached with U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Co., but declined to disclose details. The agreement appeared to have averted a threatened strike by mates, engineers and stewards who work aboard 130 vessels. Talks began July 17 and the marine officers have remained on their jobs on a day-to-day basis.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hordes of tourists annually visit Washington, D.C., but few ever get to query top newsmakers there. Now, they've a great chance, if only they can find a seat at the city's "National Town Meeting."

It's a weekly program, broadcast live by the National Public Radio system each Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. EDT. It takes place at the Eisenhower Theater in the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The show began slightly more than 1 1/2 months ago. It features two national newsmakers at each show; they're briefly grilled by two journalists, then further questioning is turned over to members of the studio audience.

"National Town Meeting" was dreamed up last spring by Fred Dutton, a lawyer, a wheel in national Democratic party circles, a former aide to the late President John F. Kennedy and a top adviser to Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., during McGovern's 1972 presidential bid. "It struck me that tourists can come to town and see monuments and museums, maybe the House or Senate if they're in session," said Dutton. "So why not some of the top newsmakers they hear about?"

The program is moderated by John Charles Daly, 60, a veteran newsmen who is better recognized as the former host of "What's My Line."

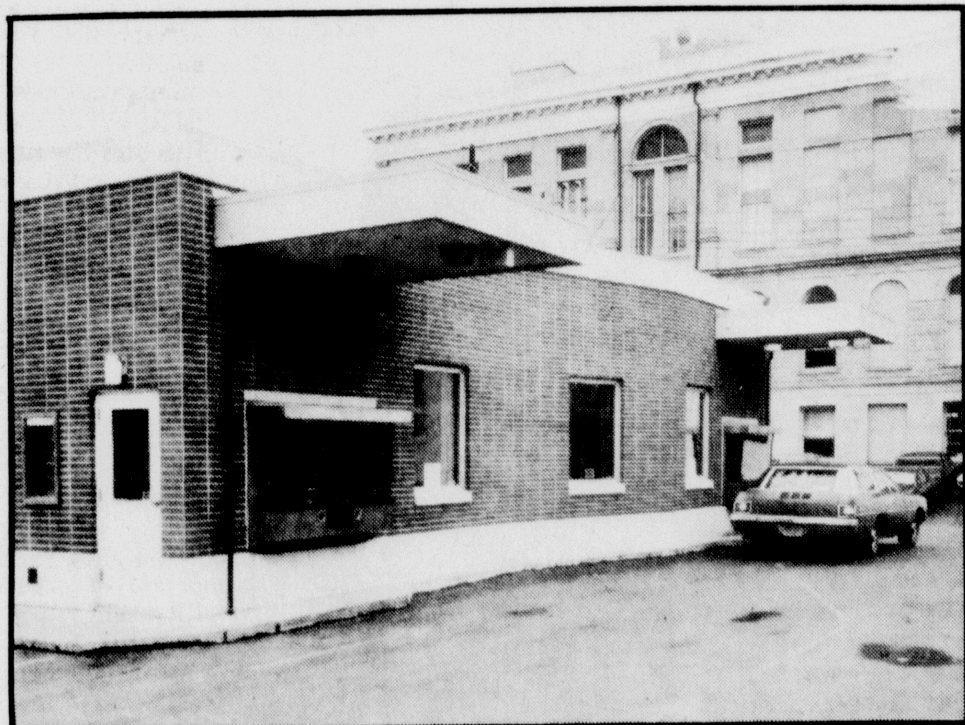

The lead-off show featured Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and former New York police Commissioner Patrick Murphy. This Wednesday, the guests are Andrew Brimmer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis. They'll discuss inflation and the economy.

Dutton, who produces the show aided by two assistants, says the first few programs drew an audience of 500; now it's twice that size, about 50 per cent of the audience are tourists and the rest area residents.

He says they learn who is on and when in notices posted by the National Park Service and handbills distributed at congressional offices, the Kennedy Center, the Ford Theater and the Smithsonian Institution.

The show is underwritten by the Mobil Oil Corp., which estimates it'll have kicked in about $100,000 by the end of the year.

MR. AND MRS. CARL FULLER

Williamsport church setting for wedding

The Williamsport United Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Judith Ann Wright and Mr. Carl Austin Fuller.

The Rev. Norman O. Williams of the Marietta United Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony before the altar adorned with an arrangement of pink, blue, and green carnations and daisies. Miss Jill Long, organist, and Mr. Rick Metzger, vocalist, presented a half hour of music preceding the wedding.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wright, Williamsport, and Mr. Fuller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Fuller, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of white satin. The bodice was trimmed with white lace daisies, with the trim continuing down the back and scattered under a full organza over-skirt ruffled at the hem. The long sleeves were accented by the daisy white lace at the cuffs. The gown was enhanced with a floor length, daisy lace edged mantilla, ruffled cap and float face veil. She carried a bouquet of pink, blue, green, and white carnations and daisies, pink sweetheart roses, and babies breath. Her only jewelry was an opal necklace and earrings, a gift from the groom.

Miss Jeri Henson served as maid of honor. She was attired in a blue gown with flowered organza over-skirt, and a blue picture hat. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations. Bridesmaids, Charlyn Fuller, Jerri Furniss, and Cora Whitesed, wore pink gowns with flowered over-skirts and pink picture hats. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations. Lu Ann Howell, flower girl, wore a green gown with flowered over-skirt, and a white picture hat with green ribbon. She carried a basket of green and white carnations.

Mr. Chuck Graffis served as best man, and ushers were Gary Wright, Rick Kennedy, and Tim Hegarty. Mark Patch was ring bearer.

A reception in the church annex immediately followed the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake and flowers matching the attendants dresses graced the bride's table. Hostesses were Vivian Patch, Sue Graffis, Carol Giffen, and Kay Hooks.

The bride's mother wore a mint green floor length dress and Mrs. Fuller's dress was blue. Both wore corsages of white carnations and pink roses.

After a trip to Dearborn, Michigan, the couple is residing temporarily with the bride's parents. Mr. Fuller will be leaving for a tour of duty with the U.S. Army August 12, and his wife will join him later.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents the evening preceding the wedding. The new Mrs. Fuller and her husband are graduates of Westfall High School. She is employed at Nationwide Insurance, Columbus.

Out-of-town guests were from Washington C. H., Jeffersonville, Faiborn, Frankfort, New Holland, Mount Sterling, Ashville, Circleville, Columbus, Harrisburg, Orient, Clarksburg, Grove City, Warsaw, and Marietta.

Good Hope homecoming held

More than 200 former students, faculty, and friends of Good Hope attended the homecoming held Saturday evening at the Wayne Elementary School. A carry-in basket supper was slated, which provided the opportunity for many unknown and forgotten faces to become reacquainted.

As the classes were called to respond it was learned that the class of 1911 was the oldest represented by a former student, and the class of 1964 had the most recent graduates in attendance. The class of 1939 held the distinction of having the most members present, and only five classes after 1920 lacked any representation. Those travelling the farthest were from Louisiana and Florida. Warm wishes were sent by Miss Linda G. Wissler, Mrs. Gretchen

D. Witherspoon, and Mrs. Ruth J. Rodgers, who were unable to attend the gathering.

Pictures, yearbooks, and movies of class trips were thoroughly enjoyed by all, as everyone revisited the school building and gymnasium.

A donation was taken to cover the expenses of the facilities used, and the balance of $64.75 will be placed in the Danny Crawford Fund.

Much time, muscle, money, and moral support was provided by many former students to contact people, set up tables and provide facilities wherever possible, and it was greatly appreciated by everyone. Plans are already being made for the next homecoming to be held in three or five years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the dust settled after another day of damaging disclosures, Richard M. Nixon stood more isolated than ever from the men who must decide whether he can finish his second term as President.

Monday, the beleaguered President chose once again to gamble in an attempt to cut his losses with a dramatic move. And, once again, the result was an immediate weakening of his position.

Local man critical after drug overdose

A 30-year-old Washington C.H. man is listed in critical condition at Fayette Memorial Hospital after taking an overdose of prescription medicine, city police reported.

The man was found at 8 a.m. Monday at his home and was said to have been despondent over domestic problems.

Police also investigated two larceny incidents. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported an incident of grand larceny, vandalism and trash dumping.

Sixty-eight cartons of cigarettes, $1.65 in cash and $59.50 worth of pocket knives were taken from Ray Hendricks store in Octa, sometime between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and 8:45 a.m. Monday, the

A White House official, who refused to permit use of his name, said Monday that resignation was discussed and rejected during an impeachment strategy conference Sunday at Camp David, Md.

The official said the President rejected the option because he did not want to set "a precedent for a President being driven from office." His decision was "to fight on."

But he chose to fight with a disclosure

Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

Burglars had entered the store by forcing open the locked back door.

A window valued at $4 was broken in a house owned by William Boldman, Greenfield, at 1:30 p.m. Monday, sheriff's deputies reported. The house owned by Boldman was located in Bloomingburg.

A trash dumping incident on Ohio 729 and Gregg Road in Jefferson Township was reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department at 10:45 p.m. Monday. The incident is under investigation.

A gear shift assembly, paint and putty, was stolen from a car owned by Ernie Perry, Bloomingburg, while the car was parked at 720 Dayton Ave., last week, city police reported.

The total value of the merchandise stolen was estimated at $60.

The soft drink vending machine at Kroger's, 238 S. Main St., was burglarized and $59 removed, sometime between Aug. 3-5, police reported.

Bolt cutters were used to cut the lock on the machine and then a key was used to open it.

Meet postponed; lack of quorum

SABINA — The Sabina village council met Monday night and paid routine bills, but no further action could be considered because a quorum of councilmen failed to attend.

Another meeting has been slated for Tuesday night.

that served to drive some of his firmest supporters among congressmen to say they would have to vote to impeach Nixon if he refused to resign.

If it was a miscalculation, it was only the latest in a long series that have plagued Nixon's efforts to extricate himself from the Watergate scandal.

There was the original fight to withhold the tapes that climaxed with the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox. It was the firing of Cox that set the impeachment process in motion.

There was the decision to release the edited White House transcripts and portray them as the full story of the President's knowledge of and involvement in Watergate. But the reaction to these intimate glimpses into private presidential conversations hurt Nixon's case in Congress and with the American public.

There were the attempts by White House spokesmen to describe the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry as a partisan witchhunt, an effort by the Democrats to negate the President's landslide reelection. That backfired among moderate House Republicans who believed committee chairman Peter W.

Rodino Jr., D-N.J., had gone out of his way to maintain fairness.

In each case, Nixon appeared totally unaware of the mood of a Congress that desperately wanted the President to demonstrate his innocence but that demanded he do it with hard evidence.

The latest disclosures prompted defections from some of the most hard-line of Nixon supporters, like Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., who had argued the anti-impeachment case during the nationally broadcast House Judiciary Committee hearings.

"With great reluctance and deep personal regret," Wiggins said he would support impeachment for obstruction of justice if Nixon did not resign first.

The President made it clear in his statement Monday that he had written off the House.

But he concluded by saying, "I am firmly convinced that the record, in its entirety, does not justify the extreme step of impeachment and removal of a president. I trust that as the constitutional process goes forward this perspective will prevail."

If he has now lost Wiggins, that final hope for vindication may also prove a miscalculation.

Travel films topic at Kiwanis meeting

The guest speaker at Monday's regular dinner meeting of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club was a representative of Ralph Windoes Travelogues, Inc., a firm which produces 16 millimeter travel films to rent to clubs and organizations.

Hugo H. Hall, a field representative, said that all of the travel films are produced by professional photographers who then narrate the films. After editing, the running time of each film is approximately an hour and a half.

The films are usually grouped in a series of six and are scheduled to be shown approximately four to six weeks apart.

Hall stressed that a great deal of research is done on each area to be photographed. The completed series is then rented to clubs and organizations. The Kiwanis Club is considering obtaining a series of the films, and the subject will be discussed at the next board of directors meeting.

Hall also said that the firm provides organization which contract for the films with promotional literature and publicity releases.

Cincinnati teamsters holding out

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The two-month-old building trades strike that has plagued area construction for two months was down to one holdout union today—but Mayor Theodore Berry sees little cause for optimism.

A meeting called by the mayor Monday between negotiators for striking Teamsters Local 100 and six ready-mix concrete companies apparently produced few results.

Berry later reminded the parties of the disruption caused by the strike.

"We have $67 million worth of public works which either are stopped or cannot be contracted until the strike ends," said Berry.

Monday's bright spot came with the announcement that the 800-member Sheet Metal Workers had accepted a two-year contract which calls for a 36-cent hourly wage hike the first year "and more the second," according to a spokesperson.

The Teamsters are seeking 75-cent hourly raises each year of a three-year contract.

The strike has stalled construction at four Cincinnati hospitals, a new 18,000-seat sports arena and a major water control project on Mill Creek.

About 2.3 million barrels of crude oil move daily on Canadian pipelines.

Orioles take twin-bill; move to third in AL East

By The Associated Press
Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver has a nomination for most valuable player in the American League — his own second baseman, Bobby Grich.

While Reggie Jackson, the slugging outfielder of the Oakland A's, must be considered a favorite to retain his MVP title, Grich didn't lose any votes with his performance in Monday's twilight doubleheader against the Detroit Tigers.

He belted a three-run homer, a run-scoring single and scored three times to lead Baltimore to a 7-4 victory in the opener, then added another hit and a walk in the Orioles' 6-3 triumph in the nightcap.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York blanked Boston 8-0; Oakland split a pair with Minnesota, winning 2-1 then losing 4-3, and Texas outscored Chicago 13-8.

Grich's homer was the 17th of the year for the right-handed hitter, who is now batting .286 with 64 runs batted in and 71 runs scored.

Grich and Paul Blair combined to score 10 runs for the Orioles in the doubleheader, with Blair scoring three times in each game. And it was Blair's two-run homer in the sixth inning which broke a 3-3 tie and put Baltimore ahead for good.

Blair's homer, his 12th of the season, followed a two-out single by Mark Belanger. The Orioles got their final run in the ninth on an RBI single by Don Baylor.

Yankees 8, Red Sox 0
Rudy May, making his first start since coming off the disabled list last week, blanked Boston on two hits, singles by Rico Petrocelli in the fourth inning and Tommy Harper in the ninth. Thurman Munson and Roy White homered for New York.

It was only the Yankees' fourth victory in 13 games against the Red Sox this year, and their first ever over Boston starter Bill Lee, who was 4-0 this season against New York and 8-0 lifetime.

A's 2-3, Twins 1-4

By The Associated Press
The Los Angeles Dodgers are alive and well in the National League West. The Cincinnati Reds are just alive.

Opening an important three-game series Monday night, the Dodgers won 6-3 and gave the Reds' pennant dreams a kick in the percentages.

"They're the best club in baseball, there's no doubt about it," said a dismayed Sparky Anderson, the Cincinnati manager, as his Reds dropped 7½ games off the Dodgers' front-

A's to victory in the opener, while Rod Carew's run-scoring single capped a three-run fourth inning that helped Minnesota win the nightcap.

Jackson's two-out blast into the right-field bleachers in the opener made a loser of Bert Blyleven, 10-13, who allowed only five Oakland hits. Ken Holtzman, 12-12, got the victory, with ninth-inning relief help from Rollie Fingers.

Jerry Terrell's bunt drove home the first run of the Twins' rally in the fourth inning of the nightcap and Eric Soderholm delivered another with a sacrifice fly before Carew drove home Terrell with his base hit.

Rangers 13, White Sox 8
Cesar Tovar started and finished a six-run first inning in the Rangers' triumph over Chicago.

After Tovar walked to start the game, Jeff Burroughs also walked. Then came singles by Mike Hargrove, Jim Spencer and Toby Harrah, a hit batsman, and another walk, and finally a two-run single ... by Tovar.

running pace.

The Dodgers beat the Reds with Steve Yeager's grand slam home run in the seventh.

"I was looking for a pitch I could handle," noted Yeager, normally not known for his home run hitting. "I got it, a fastball that was down."

In the other National League games, the New York Mets beat the Montreal Expos 10-4; the St. Louis Cardinals stopped the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 in 13 innings; the Houston Astros trimmed the San Francisco Giants 7-2 and the Atlanta Braves beat the San Diego Padres 9-7.

Cincinnati starter Don Gullett, 13-8, surrendered all the Dodger runs on homers in the nationally televised game. Jimmy Wynn earlier hit a two-run homer for the Dodgers, the first off Gullett in his last eight starts.

Down 2-0, Cincinnati tied the Dodgers in the top of the seventh on George Foster's fifth homer of the baseball season. He hit it after Tony Perez singled.

Mets 10, Expos 4
Pitcher Tug McGraw's three-run double broke a 4-4 tie in the eighth inning and New York scored three more runs in the ninth to bury Montreal, 10-4. McGraw, 2-5, who replaced starter Tom Seaver in the seventh inning, delivered the game-winning hit after the Mets loaded the bases. Ed Kranepool walked with one out and Wayne Garrett singled to center.

Cardinals 3, Phillies 2
Joe Torre's bases-loaded single in the 13th inning lifted St. Louis over Philadelphia. The victory boosted the first-place Cardinals' lead in the National League East to two games over Philadelphia.

Ted Sizemore doubled off Pete Richert, 1-1, to lead off the 13th. After Bake McBride was intentionally walked, Phils catcher Bob Boone threw wildly into center field on an attempted pickoff, the runners advancing to second and third.

Astros 7, Giants 2
Milt May drove in three runs, two of them with a single that capped a four-run seventh inning, to help Houston beat San Francisco. A double by winner Don Wilson, 8-8, and Roger Metzger's single gave Houston a third-inning run off loser Charlie Williams, 1-3, before Houston wrapped up the game in the seventh.

Braves 9, Padres 7
Atlanta struck for two runs in the ninth inning, the tie-breaker on Hank Aaron's single, to beat San Diego. Ralph Garr and Mike Lum singled and Darrell Evans walked to load the bases before Aaron delivered Atlanta's go-ahead run with an infield single.

WHS Majorettes return from Rio Grande camp

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion Varsity Majorettes have returned from camp with new ideas for next fall. The majorettes went to Camp Cresendo at Rio Grande College, Rio Grande, Ohio, from July 8-12. The girls were there along with 42 other majorettes groups from other schools.

The girls are Chris Black, head majorette, Bev Applegate, feature twirler, Jerriann Rannels, Pam Hendrick, Denise Haightcock, Joye Gardner, Robin Brakeall, Lu-Etta Brown, and Jo-Retta Brown.

The girls' schedule was very strenuous, consisting of five classes, lasting from one hour to one hour and a half. Then at night the girls were in competition. In the novelty competition, they won third place against 35 other groups.

The girls also won the spirit baton for one day. The spirit baton was given the group of girls who showed the most spirit, who practiced and showed courtesy to the teachers.

The feature twirler, Miss Applegate, entered the Miss Cresendo contest along with 27 others. Her routine had to consist of various twirls and movements. She was also selected as one of the eight finalists.

The majorettes brought home new ideas that will be helpful to them marching with the Varsity Band this year.

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Head Coach Nick Skorich of the Cleveland Browns says he doesn't know when tight end Charles "Chip" Glass plans to return to the club's training camp at Hiram College.

Glass, who is starting his sixth year in the National Football League, left the camp without notice Sunday.

"He left after practice yesterday," Skorich said Sunday night. "I talked to him late last (Sunday) night and he said he was seriously thinking about some personal problems."

The coach added that Glass, who is World Football League bound in 1975, talked with Browns owner Art Modell and said he planned to come back to camp but that he didn't know when.

Two other Browns veterans missed practice Monday because of injuries suffered in Friday's exhibition loss to the Rams at Los Angeles.

pounded out four home runs in humiliating Maynard 19-2 in first round action Monday. Portsmouth notched a pair of victories, edging Sandusky 6-4 and downing Steubenville 6-1.

In other games today, Marion met Miamisburg, Columbus Scioto faced Lancaster, Ottawa went against Steubenville and Lima faced Kirtland. Sandusky, drawing a bye, was to meet the loser of the Marion-Miamisburg contest.

Cincinnati Budde, state titlist in 1949 and 1969, was trailing 2-1 after three innings, but then caught fire and rolled up 18 runs in 16 innings, highlighted by a seven-run ninth.

Rick Heidorn batted in seven runs with two homers and a single and Tim Deffinger smashed a grand-slammer.

Pitcher Dave Bush went the distance and fanned nine batters in leading Portsmouth over Sandusky. In the nightcap, Rick Adkins hurled a six-hitter against Steubenville.

Jeff Black and Mike Allen hit home runs and combined for five hits in leading Lancaster over Ottawa, 8-0.

Miamisburg scored all of its runs in the seventh inning to nip Lima 4-3.

Columbus Scioto emerged a 13-8 winner over Kirtland in a wild, 11-inning battle. Kirtland tied it up 4-4 in the ninth inning on a homer by Jim Gerlosky. Scioto exploded for nine runs in the 11th inning and then stalled a Kirtland rally after four runs came across.

NFL strike negotiations to resume in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Football League owners and players, each group claiming to be as resolute as ever despite recent setbacks, return to the bargaining table today in another effort to end the 37-day-old player's strike.

The NFL Players Association — shaken by a steady stream of veterans flowing into camp, including recently arrived star quarterbacks Bob Griese of Miami, Terry Bradshaw of Pittsburgh and John Hadl of Los Angeles — says it is standing fast and defections are slight.

Owners, disturbed by the meager attendance during the first weekend of exhibition games, say the financial losses will have no outward effect on their stance in contract dealings with the players' union.

Griese, Bradshaw and Hadl all showed up for practice Monday, joining Dallas star Roger Staubach who reported Sunday.

Griese said he came into camp because he thinks the end of the strike is near.

"I think something is going to be settled pretty soon," said Griese. "Owners lost $3 to $5 million last weekend in exhibition games. They're not going to do that every week."

Bradshaw said he came in only after much soul-searching. "I've given it a lot of thought. 'I've made my decision and nothing's going to change it.'"

Terry Hanratty, Bradshaw's rival for the Steelers' quarterback job, remained on the picket line.

Reds call Kennedy to replace Kosco

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds replaced injured utility player Andy Kosco Monday by promoting hard-hitting infielder Junior Kennedy.

The former No. 1 draft choice of the Baltimore Orioles was hitting .281 in 83 games this year at Class AAA Indianapolis of the American Association.

Kennedy recently became the first Indianapolis player in 38 years to go 6-for-6 in a game. A member of the league All-Star team, he had 10 assists as a shortstop in the All-Star to set a 40-year old record.

Kosco is sidelined on the 21-day disabled list with a ruptured disc in his back.

One sentenced, one immune

Gordon criminal cases end

Action Monday has concluded the criminal cases against both Gordon brothers in connection with the alleged kidnapping and extortion of a Washington C.H. man Feb. 20.

Jay D. Gordon, 21, of Staunton-Sugar Grove Road, was sentenced Monday morning in Highland County Common Pleas Court, Hillsboro, after a negotiated plea of guilty to extortion. The charge of kidnapping was dismissed by the state.

Prior to the action in court, Jack Gordon, 20, had once again been granted immunity from prosecution so that he might be called as a witness for the state in the case against his brother.

Rossmann requested immunity for Jack Gordon shortly after the jury was seated in Fayette County Common Pleas Court June 24.

The prosecutors claimed his testimony was vital to the case against his brother, and Judge Evelyn W. Coffman granted the immunity request.

When Judge Coffman later declared the proceedings a mistrial, there was some question raised as to whether or not the grant of immunity was still effective. However, the new request by the prosecutors Monday alleviated any question.

The fact that the younger Gordon will not be prosecuted does not end his involvement in the case, however. The grant of immunity remains effective and means that he may still be called as a state's witness in the trial of Haley.

Law outlines tenant rights

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan Monday signed into law what he called a "landmark piece of legislation" defining the legal rights of both landlords and tenants.

The law is effective Nov. 4.

It would allow tenants to withhold rent from landlords who refuse to make repairs. A court could hold the money pending settlement of the dispute.

An opponent, Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, who is in the real estate business, predicted it could drive private enterprise out of the rental industry.

"Nothing but trouble lies ahead for the apartment owner and the housing industry," he said in a letter to constituents.

"One immediate question brought to mind," Slagle said, "is how can an apartment owner pay the mortgage and other expenses if all rent money is held by the court?"

The bill, as passed, had the backing of both the real estate industry and the administration. Gilligan signed it at the Columbus office of Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, the bill's chief backer.

The law would prohibit the retaliatory eviction of a tenant who files a complaint. It charges both the landlord and tenant to make the dwelling unit sanitary and safe — the landlord to see that it is that way at the beginning and the tenant to see that it stays that way.

Fayette County Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks scratches his head in amazement (lower photograph) as he surveys the 200-foot path taken by this auto through a corn field just off U.S. 22-E.

The damaged automobile was discovered "hidden" near the edge of the field by a passing motorist shortly before 9 a.m. Tuesday. The driver of the car and his passenger turned themselves in at the Fayette County Sheriff's Department about an hour later.

JOE A. THOMPSON, 18, of Overton, Tex., and his passenger Terry Syvertsen, 18, of Franklin Park, Ill., who owned the car, reported to sheriff's deputies that Thompson failed to negotiate a curve on U.S. 22-E at the railroad crossing around midnight.

He went off the side of the road, snapped a telephone guide wire, and broke through a fence into the corn field. The car traveled some 200 feet through the field, leaving a path approximately 10 feet wide, deputies reported.

In all some 12 rods of fence and an undetermined amount of corn belonging to Marion Frantz were destroyed. The car was a total loss and both occupants claimed minor injuries.

Thompson was charged with reckless operation and failure to show proof of a valid operator's license.

Ex-FBI man sues former colleagues

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— William F. Higgins Jr., a former FBI agent here, seeks $500,000 damages from four of his former co-workers in a suit filed in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

Named in the suit are John W. Burns of Albany, N. Y.; Dwight M. Wells, assistant special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office; Marshall Perkins, a Cleveland-based agent, and John B. Richardson III, who has since left the FBI. Burns was formerly in charge of the Cleveland office.

Higgins charges in his suit that the four defendants beat him in July 1972 and also damaged his automobile while he was at Richardson's home in suburban Bay Village. Richardson now lives in Florida.

Higgins was dismissed from the FBI in Newark, N. J., last October but claimed he was fired as the result of his pressing for an investigation in Cleveland where he was assigned prior to his transfer to Newark. He is now selling real estate in Hillsdale, N. J.

He had been investigating the financial empire of Lloyd W. Sahley and, according to memos in his file, turned up the names of Robert E. Hughes, County Republican co-chairman, and Minor H. George, the party's vice chairman.

Higgins says he was investigating George's relation to Sahley through their joint connection with Manger Cleveland Corp., and Hughes' possible role in securing a loan for Sahley's now bankrupt Midwestern Securities Corp. Higgins claims he was fired because his investigation was getting him close to important county political figures and had possible Watergate implications.

The charges against Hughes and George were never proved.

LaFatch innocent of charge

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Anthony LaFatch, an Akron millionaire, was acquitted by a U. S. District Court jury here Monday of a charge of illegal receipt and possession of a gun.

A gun was confiscated from LaFatch's home in Miami, Fla., by FBI agents in 1973. It is a violation of the Federal Gun Control Act for a convicted felon to carry a gun across state lines.

LaFatch was convicted for robbery in 1937 and for a liquor violation in 1933. He said he had purchased the gun for his wife to use as protection while he was away from home. The gun was purchased in Summit County.

LaFatch was acquitted last April on five counts of extortion. He was charged with using information obtained from Ohio Commerce Director Dennis Shaul to extort $50,000 from officials of Realty National Corp. of Columbus.

Special zoning meeting slated

A special meeting of the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford said the zoning board members will be considering one variance request during the meeting.

He said Richard Snodgrass, 630 Yeoman St., has requested a variance to establish a home improvement shop at 715 Pearl Street.

Opening lead - jack of diamonds.

To guess right consistently is the mark of a fine player, but most of the good guesses you hear about are based much more on logic than on a so-called sixth sense. Consider this case where South must guess right at the crucial point to make the contract. West leads the jack of diamonds, won by declarer with the king.

There is no good reason to postpone drawing trumps, so South leads the ten which West wins with the king. West returns the ten of diamonds, won by the queen, and South leads another trump to West's ace.

West plays still another diamond, the six, and South is confronted with the problem of whether to play dummy's ace or eight. If he plays the ace, he goes down; if he plays the eight, he makes the contract.

Actually, the right play is not a guess. Declarer must play the eight, not because he can be sure that West started with the J-10-9-6 instead of the J-10-6, but because the eight play guarantees the contract, while the ace play jeopardizes it.

What can happen if the eight loses to the nine? Certainly nothing bad, since declarer can then claim the rest of the tricks. His two club losers go off on the ace of diamonds and queen of spades.

But if South plays the ace instead of the eight he courts disaster and, in the actual hand, goes down one after East ruffs. He eventually loses a club trick and the contract.

In a sense, you could say that playing the eight is a good guess, but it would be more realistic to call it an educated guess.

When to Visit the Baby

We are expecting our first child in three months. I know we will be visited by our families, since this will be the first grandchild.

How soon after a newborn child is brought home from the hospital is it safe to have visitors?

Mrs. H.J.O., Ga.

Dear Mrs. O.:

The love of grandparents is completely understandable. There is a great temptation to coo at and hold the baby.

Newborn infants must be protected from infections that are spread so easily by adults. It is almost impossible to talk to the child without sending some fine droplets of saliva in its direction.

In the hospital, the baby has been protected with every kind of sterile precaution. The sudden transition to a world of people carrying strange germs may be too rapid. Children actually adjust themselves quickly to the new germs at home and build up an immunity to infections carried by their parents and other children.

Visitors should not be upset if they are permitted only a short visit with a newborn child during these early days. Grandparents and family should be satisfied with a moment or two with the baby. They should be instructed not to talk directly at the baby. Their nonverbal love will be appreciated by the infant.

Have you seen the advertisements that say you can order dental plates by mail? Does this make any sense?

Mr. H.W., S.D.

Dear Mr. W.:

Yes, I have, and it is almost impossible for me to believe that some people fall into their trap.

One of the great accomplishments of modern dentistry is to make exact molds of the mouth, the gums, the cheeks, the soft tissue of the floor of the mouth and the roof of the palate.

Only in this way is it possible to insure that dentures will fit securely and not rub against and injure the sensitive tissues of the mouth.

After dentures are made, the dentist follows the patient to be sure that chewing and grinding of food are satisfactory, and to see that there are no pressure areas that can become troublesome.

Mail-order dentistry is particularly hazardous for another reason. Growths and other diseases of the mouth, normally diagnosed by the dentist, would, of course, be overlooked.

Nuclear war exhibit set in Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—As the world marked the destruction of Hiroshima by atomic bomb 29 years ago today, the wife of a former Atomic Energy Commission expert put finishing touches on the largest memorial collection outside of Japan dedicated to making the world aware of the holocaust of nuclear war.

Barbara Reynolds said the exhibition will go on permanent display at Quaker-sponsored Wilmington College here next month.

Mrs. Reynolds and her husband, Earle, became activists in efforts to halt American and Soviet nuclear testing after he left the AEC. They were once arrested when they sailed into an American Pacific test site.

Mrs. Reynolds has been working on the Wilmington exhibition with the help of two associates. She said the exhibit is designed to say "this must be the end of war."

The collection includes audiovisual presentations, books, pamphlets, leaflets, letters, diaries and other material.

Mrs. Reynolds said she saw the need to remind the world of the horror and devastation of the nuclear war while her husband was assigned in Japan in 1951 to study the effects of radiation on the growth of Hiroshima children.

"If we could have been given a complete picture of what the bomb meant back in 1945, perhaps we wouldn't have this problem today," she said.

Mrs. Reynolds said the mayors of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, both destroyed by nuclear weapons during World War II, have agreed to serve on the exhibition's board of directors.

Rice crop supports up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government price support loan rates for 1974-crop rice will average $7.54 per hundredweight of grain, up sharply from last year and from a preliminary level set last fall, says the Agriculture Department.

The new support, announced Monday, compares with the 1973 rice loan of $6.07 per hundredweight. It also is $1.31 above the level of $6.23 tentatively set by the USDA last October for the 1974 crop.

Officials said the boost was required under federal law which calls for rice to be supported at a minimum of 65 per cent of the August 1 parity price. That price, which is related to farm production costs, rose sharply from last fall and meant the support had to be increased.

Just for kicks, we've been going over the records to see what kind of film was used to make the top prize-winning slides in the past few years. Agfachrome seems to be well out ahead. There are several reasons for Agfachrome's superiority. First among these reasons, obviously, is the fact that we have here a good product, manufactured under rigid specifications by people who know quality and insist that high standards be maintained. But that's not the entire story. When you buy Agfachrome you pay for the processing and, therefore, there is no temptation to have some independent lab mess up the film. The people who make the film do the processing. That's the way it should be. GAF film, processed by GAF, yields beautiful color slides; and GAF print film, processed by GAF, makes beautiful color prints, I kid you not.

For years we've been stressing the importance of Kodak processing of the Kodak film. If you want to find out for yourself just shoot two rolls of the same thing, send one roll to Kodak for processing and the other to an independent lab. It's hard to believe there could be that much difference in color quality, but it's there to see.

A few weeks ago we mentioned here about the Alan Stang pamphlet, KENT STATE. Many have come in and picked up this little thirty cent publication, and the reaction is as one would expect. Letters are going in to U. S. Attorney - General William B. Saxbe, asking that he see to it that these trumped-up charges against our Guardsmen are DROPPED. Letters are also going to our Congressmen in Washington and to Gov. Gilligan. I'm sure these letters, if we can get enough of them going in, can do some good. The facts clearly show that the Ohio Guardsmen are totally innocent of any wrongdoing. There is something you can do. Get the facts and write letters.

Latta says resignation advantageous to Nixon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"It would probably be to Nixon's advantage to resign now," says Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, one of Nixon's staunchest supporters during the House Judiciary Committee's hearings on the articles of impeachment.

"He'll have to answer for himself, but there is enough pressure on him," Latta said Monday in a telephone interview from his Washington office.

Latta said that after he and other members of the committee who had also supported the President, learned the contents of the three tapes of White House conversations Monday, they all began to have "second thoughts" on impeachment.

"We're all going to have to do some re-thinking," he said.

"In my judgement, after the release of those last tapes, he's (Nixon) null of withholding impeachment in the House," Latta said.

Latta said he was most upset because Nixon had denied any knowledge of or dealing with the CIA in an attempt to divert the FBI from Watergate investigations.

"He should have released them (the tapes) earlier," Latta said. "He admits to listening to them back in May."

He said that because it appears Nixon purposely withheld evidence from the committee, he feels the President was involved in an obstruction of justice.

"This would fit under Article One and it casts a cloud over the other matters," Latta said.

Seven deaths are counted in Miami building collapse

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "It was like we were sliding into an abyss. One girl above me was hanging onto a chair. The rest of her was just kicking in mid-air."

Olivia Harris was describing the collapse of an office building roof which sent tons of concrete, steel beams and cars crashing in a tangled heap of debris Monday, killing seven persons.

Authorities began digging Monday and by late this morning had recovered the last of the victims known to be buried in the rubble.

Mrs. Harris, 45, was among the 16 persons injured in the collapse at the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration building in downtown Miami near busy Biscayne Boulevard.

Rescuers using spotlights probed through the debris early today, working carefully after a wall buckled and threatened to collapse.

By late morning, the bodies of five women and two men had been recovered from the tons of concrete.

The women were identified as Anna Pope, 55, a cashier from Fort Lauderdale; Anna Y. Moulner, 24, a clerk-typist from Miami; Martha Skeels, 50, a clerical supervisor from Miami; Mary Keehan, 27, a secretary from North Miami; and Mary P. Sullivan, 57, a clerk from North Miami.

The men were identified as Nicholas Fragos, 29, who recently transferred to Miami from Detroit; and Special Agent Charles H. Mann, 31, who was on his first day in the Miami office after a tour of duty in New Delhi, India.

Inspectors face charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State mining safety inspectors will be hauled on the carpet next week to answer accusations of incompetency and corruption leveled by coal miners, state Industrial Relations Director Joe Shump said Monday.

Shump met for nearly three hours with about 20 representatives of United Mine Workers Dist. 6 in southeastern Ohio.

In an often heated exchange, miners demanding that a North American Coal Co. foreman be prohibited from supervising workers, and that the state update its mine safety laws.

Shump answered that he would try to reach a compromise with North American Coal in the first case, and that legislation was in the works to solve the second problem.

But most of the miners, as they left the meeting, indicated it was not enough, and that they would continue a strike that has idled about 2,200 workers at seven mines in Belmont, Jefferson and Monroe counties.

"We came here for action and we're getting the run around," said John Guzek, Dist. 6 president. "We'll have to wait and see whether we'll go back to work."

The miners complained about state mine safety inspectors, calling them inexperienced, incompetent, often lazy and sometimes corrupt.

Several said they'd seen state examiners certify as safe the same mine federal inspectors said was riddled with violations.

"If we've got examiners not enforcing the law, we'll change that," Shump said. "Let me assure you, we're going to call all the inspectors into my office and let them hear some of the things you've been telling me."

Contractor's trial opens

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The trial of Jim Creech, the moving contractor indicted Aug. 3, 1973 on eleven counts of falsification of claims in connection with a state moving contract, began here Monday.

The indictment against Creech alleges he presented "false claims to the Commonwealth of Kentucky" in various amounts between April 26, 1972 and April 16, 1973.

In his opening statement, special prosecutor Woodson T. Wood of Maysville said the alleged false claims included more hours than were actually worked and amounted to an excess of $142,832.

The trial resumes at 10 a.m. today.

Showers hit south

By The Associated Press
Thundershowers pelleted some Southern states today and brought scattered relief to parched sections of southern Texas and northwest Missouri.

The storms created flooding north of San Antonio, but most showers continued only briefly. The heaviest activity, however, occurred in the Atlantic Coast states, where nearly an inch of rain fell at Charleston, S.C., and one-half inch drenched Macon, Ga.

Some rainstorms hit northern California, but fog and low clouds mainly hovered over the Pacific Coast.

Fair skies and cool temperatures prevailed from the lower Mississippi Valley to the Northeast with temperatures mostly in the 50s throughout the Ohio Valley and Great Lakes.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 46 at Bradford, Pa., to 94 at Yuma, Ariz., and Thermal, Calif.

Plain Dealer asks Nixon's resignation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Plain Dealer said in an editorial today that President Nixon should resign from office now.

It said the President's "shocking admission yesterday that he deliberately withheld information and misled Congress and the nation about the Watergate coverup now makes his removal from office a certainty."

Rail freight moves again in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana had freight service along Penn Central's main line from Chicago to Louisville, Ky., today but still no answer to the rail crisis that forced the track closing last week.

The last few miles of closed track between Chicago and Louisville, a six-mile section between Clymers and Logansport in northern Indiana, was reopened late Monday.

Trains, however, were restricted to 10 miles an hour in most places after emergency repairs were made to the line. One state official described the tracks as "just a hair above what they were before."

Passenger trains still were banned from the north-south line. Amtrak's Floridian and James Whitcomb Riley trains were detoured on other tracks, bypassing Indianapolis and making no stops in Indiana. Hoosier passengers were being bused to the nearest point, either Chicago or Cincinnati.

The Federal Railroad Administration ordered more than two-thirds of the Penn Central main line closed last Friday for safety reasons. Inspectors found 1,329 safety defects in just 67 miles of the entire 315-mile route, a major freight artery for Indiana.

The repairs, approved by the FRA, were completed a full 11 days ahead of Penn Central's timetable announced last Friday, prompting Gov. Otis R. Bowen to declare the rails could have been upgraded before the closing order.

"I was annoyed that the repair could be made so rapidly," Bowen said. "It makes me a little bit bitter that they hadn't done it sooner."

Widow allowed to run station

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Janet Markusic has won her battle to keep running a gasoline service station operated by her husband until his death two months ago.

Mrs. Markusic said Monday that she had been advised by U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, that the Union Oil Co. had agreed to give her a "chance to operate the station if I want, and I want."

The mother of five children threatened last week to take the company to court after the firm told her the station's lease ended the day her husband died.

Three-hour battle rages between Cypriot factions

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Despite the Cyprus cease-fire, a three-hour battle flared up Monday night between Greek and Turkish Cypriots in the eastern port of Famagusta.

A spokesman for the United Nations peacekeeping force said Greek Cypriot troops apparently ambushed Turkish Cypriots who had left Famagusta's medieval fort, where they had been under siege for several days. The Greek Cypriots have said the besieged Turkish Cypriots have been foraging in port warehouses outside the walls.

Other Turks came to the ambushed refugees' aid with covering gunfire, the spokesman said.

Casualty figures were not available. About 11,000 Turkish Cypriots took refuge in the fort when fighting on the Mediterranean island spread to Famagusta in mid-July, and since then they have been surrounded by hostile Greek Cypriots.

Shortly before the Famagusta shooting Monday night, U.N. spokesman Rudolf Stajduhar had announced that for the first time since Greece, Turkey and Britain signed the Geneva cease-fire on July 30, no shooting had been reported anywhere on Cyprus.

Earlier in the day, a joint military commission continued efforts to establish boundaries between Turkish and Greek Cypriot troops. A spokesman said the British, Greek and Turkish representatives and a U.N. observer "had reached provisional agreement on a substantial part of the eastern area" of the boundary.

Even before the Monday night skirmish, Greek and Turkish diplomats had traded charges of cease-fire violations, and it has been uncertain all along whether either side would attend the second round of Geneva talks scheduled to start Thursday.
